National Threat Operations Section (NTOS)

The mission of the FBI's National Threat Operations Center (NTOC) is to protect the nation by serving as the primary communication channel through which the public provides tips to the FBI. NTOC identified a need to push non-emergent state, local, and tribal matters directly to agencies in a timely manner.

The CJIS Advisory Process and special task forces have been working in support of enhanced information sharing opportunities between the National Threat Operations Section and the law enforcement community. This initiative entails sending tip information that NTOC receives from the public that has a state, local, or tribal nexus directly to the states via the International Justice and Safety Network (Nlets) Administrative Messages infrastructure. The type of information that will be shared is more investigative in nature, as other methods in place for handling emergency-based tips that are called/sent in are sent directly to Fusion Centers.

Pertinent Info:

- To support the FBI's mission, NTOC is providing tip information directly to respective agencies via Nlets Administrative Messages.
- NTOC pushes information via Nlets' existing Administrative Message infrastructure in real time for any action deemed appropriate by the receiving agencies.
- The following examples include tips received by NTOC which could be within state, local, and tribal jurisdictions with a non-federal nexus that will be shared:
